RFNL PREVIEW

Leeton-Whitton Crows v Griffith Swans

All eyes will be on Leeton Showground for the western derby between Leeton-Whitton and Griffith. It has been a little while since both teams came into this game with winning form and the added appearance of Grant Birchall for Leeton-Whitton will only add further interest.

The Crows outlasted Narrandera under lights last weekend to bring up their first win since the final round of the 2021 season. A Jade Hodge cameo appearance helped but it was the club's youth that led the charge with the likes of Angus Crelley, Taj Doyle and Logan Mahalm impressing.

Griffith come in off the bye but recorded one of their best wins in recent seasons before that, beating Ganmain-Grong Grong-Matong at Ganmain by 65 points. While much has been made of the Swans' Canberra recruits, it was a lot of the locals that led the charge against the Lions in a positive sign for the club.

These two teams have enjoyed some fantastic battles over the years and Birchall's inclusion to Leeton-Whitton is only going to give the young Crows outfit further confidence. Griffith should have enough class to get over the line but don't expect it to come easy.

Prediction: Griffith by 40 points

Coolamon Rovers v Narrandera Eagles

The early hype surrounding Coolamon suffered a severe dent last week when they went down to Turvey Park by 19 points. Despite all the quality players within their squad, the Rovers could only manage to score five goals for the day in a performance that will have sidelined coach Jake Barrett scratching his head.

The Rovers get the opportunity to bounce back when they take on Narrandera, who are coming off an equally disappointing result. The Eagles went down to Leeton-Whitton by nine points. They had their chances but couldn't make the most of them against a younger, fitter and hungrier Crows outfit.

Coolamon should have enough class to get back to winning ways here with the likes of Tim Oosterhoff, Jerry Maslin and Jeremy Sykes likely to cause the Narrandera defence headaches.

Shaun Brooker will be looking for a response from Narrandera. That doesn't necessarily mean the scoreboard but he will want his team's effort and work rate to be better than what it was last weekend.

Prediction: Coolamon by 100 points

RFNL PREVIEW

Ganmain-Grong Grong-Matong Lions v Turvey Park Bulldogs

Match of the round will take place at Ganmain Sportsground on Sunday where the reigning premiers are under the pump and set to host the rampaging Turvey Park Bulldogs.

The Lions' premiership defence is being severely tested after back-to-back heavy defeats, firstly losing to Griffith and then the previously winless Wagga Tigers. While they managed to snare the signings of a couple of key forwards late in the pre-season, the Lions' attack is struggling, managing just four goals against Tigers, all coming in the second half, and nine the week before against the Swans.

If the SOS hadn't already gone out, it will have now, for premiership ruckman Jacob Olsson to return. With Dan Foley in doubt for the clash against the Bulldogs, GGGM will be hoping Olsson is ready to return given Turvey Park have ex-VFL ruckman Antony Forato in their line-up this season.

Forato was one of Turvey Park's best in the 19-point win over Coolamon last Saturday. The Bulldogs are flying after wins over Wagga Tigers, Collingullie-Glenfield Park and Coolamon to begin the year. They beat Coolamon without young gun Luke Fellows and they will have to down the Lions without reigning best and fairest winner Cal Dooley after he injured his knee last weekend.

Both Forato and Hayden Smith look to be valuable inclusions for Turvey Park, who are also benefiting from the return to fitness of key forward Brad Ashcroft. The Lions have provided Turvey Park with some headaches in recent seasons, inflicting some big margins on the Bulldogs. So while formlines suggest Turvey Park should be winning, downing the Lions on their home turf on a Sunday would be a new frontier for the emerging Bulldogs group.

Prediction: Turvey Park by 8 points

'Birchall a recruit to Crow about'

WHEN Leeton-Whitton were presented with a list of available names for guest appearances this season, one name stood out above the rest.

As the Crows go about developing their next generation of first grade footballers, it was four-time Hawthorn premiership star Grant Birchall that Leeton-Whitton decided was perfect to impart his knowledge on the club's playing group.

After successfully hosting Jason Akermanis, Brian Lake and Dane Swan (sportsmen's night) over the past 11 years, Leeton-Whitton think Birchall's appearance could not come at a better time for the club.

"We want good people at the club, he's a great guy and his record speaks for itself as well," Leeton-Whitton director of coaching Jade Hodge said.

Birchall played in four premierships across his 248-game career at Hawthorn, where he was an All Australian in 2012.

He then finished his career with a couple of seasons at Brisbane Lions, where he added another 39 games to his tally.

Hodge, a former state underage teammate of Birchall, explained there were a couple of reasons for bringing him in for a guest appearance and the main one was to share his knowledge with the young Crows group.

"That's the big thing. If you have a look at our list at the moment and where it's at. If they take one little piece of knowledge from him on the weekend it could be huge for us and those guys in their development as well," Hodge said.

"I know, even when I was coaching, just the conversations I had helped me as a coach, the conversations with the guys like Lake and Swanny when they were here. If it's helping me, it's definitely going to help the young kids as well.

"Even when it comes to preparing and we've had a young group for a few years now, they haven't had any senior experience to lean on too much so it's definitely a lot about that as well."

Hodge said the fact Birchall's appearance adds excitement was also a central reason behind the decision to bring him in.

'Birchall a recruit to Crow about'

"When I first came back, it was righto, how do we get Leeton back where it was. When I say that, it's not that it's disastrous, but we want to get a bit of excitement back around the club, get the juniors and the like and try to draw a little bit more attention to the club I suppose," Hodge explained.

"It's more around making it an exciting place to be around.

"Everyone thinks it's about making money and potentially it's going to be okay financially but we were prepared to lose money if we needed to just to try and get the vibe back at the club. It's more around getting the place a little bit more vibrant and a good place to be around."

Wins like last week's drought-breaker over Narrandera show Leeton-Whitton is on the right track. With an entire list of local juniors, plus coach Tom Groves and experienced Tasmanians-turned-locals Matt Rainbird and Hodge, the club is starting to see the shoots of a significant rebuild.

"Grover's doing a fantastic job with that side of it, he's a really good guy so the young guys really relate to him, he gets along with them and that's half the battle," Hodge said.

It's not just on the field either. The Crows have undertaken significant upgrades to the facilities at Leeton Showground over the past couple of years.

They now boast new clubrooms and upgraded change rooms and gym.

"It's actually a really enjoyable place to be around at the moment, it's really good, the feeling's good," Hodge said.

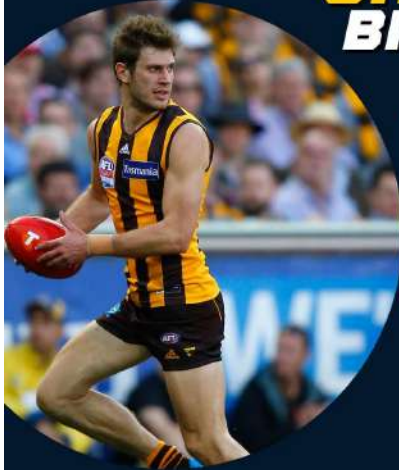

Birchall played the majority of his AFL career in defence and that's where he is expected to line up against Griffith on Saturday, along with some potential stints in the midfield.

The 35-year-old is the match-day runner for Brisbane Lions having retired at the end of 2021 so he's certainly still in good enough condition to perform for the Crows.

Birchall's appearance against Griffith is the first of what the club hopes is two special visits.

Plans are also in place for former Leeton-Whitton footballer Jacob Townsend to return home and play a one-off game later in the year.

It again is all part of the club's desire to draw accomplished footballers and elite role models to Leeton-Whitton to impart their knowledge on the group.

FFNL PREVIEW

The Rock-Yerong Creek Magpies v Northern Jets

All roads lead to Victoria Park on Saturday for the top of the table clash between the Farrer League's only two undefeated teams after four rounds.

It's been 10 years since Northern Jets started with four straight wins and Ardlethan and Aria Park are buzzing at the moment after an impressive start to the season. After wins over Marrar, CSU and North Wagga, the Jets put Temora to the sword by 71 points last Saturday.

There is no doubt the return of Mitch Hadrill and Jeromy Lucas has had a big impact, not only by what they produce but it has also released weight off the shoulders of Jack Harper, Sam Fisher and Jack Fisher, who are all thriving.

TRYC made it three straight wins to begin the year when they downed Barellan by 54 points last Saturday. Curtis Steele again proved his worth to the Magpies with another big game, while Riley Budd at his new home of centre-half-back excelled.

The Jets have probably been the more impressive of the two teams over the opening month but one suspects this is the challenge the Magpies have been waiting for to further validate their premiership credentials. The midfield battle should be worth the admission price alone and it might just be the Magpies' big forwards, James Roberts and Dean Biermann, who prove the difference in this one.

Prediction: TRYC by 11 points

Coleambally Blues v Barellan Two Blues

It's been a far cry from the start of last season for Barellan, who will travel to Coleambally on Saturday still searching for their first win of the year.

To be fair, they've taken on East Wagga-Koorngal, Marrar and The Rock-Yerong Creek and could have quite easily taken the four points over the Bombers. Still, they are yet to really get going this season and coach Alex Lawder I'm sure will be looking for a lift from his team, particularly from the likes of his new recruits who have now had three games to find their feet.

Coleambally, after upsetting CSU a week earlier, let one slip when going down to North Wagga at McPherson Oval by a goal last week. A win would have really built some momentum for the Blues heading into another winnable game at home but it was not to be.

The form of Northern Territory recruits Dray Thompson, Mark White and Stanley Tipiloura have been a highlight of the early rounds and a talking point across the league with some special passages of play.

This should go right down to the wire with both teams seeing this game as a massive opportunity.

Prediction: Barellan by 2 points

FFNL PREVIEW

Charles Sturt University Bushpigs v Marrar Bombers

CSU have had a couple of weeks to rectify what's gone wrong at their last two outings. After starting the season with a big win over North Wagga, they've since been brought crashing back to earth with losses to Northern Jets and Coleambally.

The Bushpigs have the nucleus of a strong enough team to again play finals this year but just need to iron a few things out. At the moment the departure of Andrew Dickins and Jeff Ladd over the off-season has been felt and they're just taking some time to find their way forward.

Marrar showed they are not a spent force just yet with a come-from-behind win over East Wagga-Koorlingal last week. They did so without a host of senior players and will be hoping the likes of coach Cal Gardner and assistant Zach Walgers will be right to play this week.

If CSU are to spring an upset here it must start in the midfield, where the Bombers are still undermanned. With the likes of Trent Cohalan, Lachie Moore, Lachie Holmes and co, if they can get on top then a win for the Bushpigs is certainly not out of the question.

Prediction: Marrar by 10 points

North Wagga Saints v Temora Kangaroos

North Wagga will come in on a high after getting reward for effort with a breakthrough one-goal win over Coleambally last Saturday. It would have come as a massive relief for new coach Damien Papworth and the club after a tough opening three weeks.

Now the challenge is to go on with it and Temora is probably the perfect test for the Saints. The Kangaroos, after a round one win over Coleambally, have been terribly disappointing in heavy losses to top sides The Rock-Yerong Creek, East Wagga-Koorlingal and Northern Jets, all on their home deck.

With Will Reinhold out for the foreseeable future and no sign of new ruckman Brayden Burgess yet, Temora need a lift from some of their senior players. They get an opportunity to do so, and to bounce back against the Saints here.

Tom Nejman has been a shining light for North Wagga early in the year and he will be one player Temora will be looking to shut down. A good test for both teams here as they look to build into the season.

Prediction: Temora by 20 points
